SIR BIR BIKRAM KISHORE DEB BARMAN

No. 4637-P/XVII-1

Dated, Agartala, the 29th March, 1937

SUBJECT :—Accession of Tripura State to the Federation of India.

MY ESTEEMED FRIEND,

With reference to Political Agent Mr. Ray's letter No. 1244 P/111-48 dated the 18th/19th August, 1936, to my Minister, on the subject of accession to the Federation, I have the honour to state that on a consideration of all the facts and circumstances relating to the new constitution for India as embodied in the Government of India Act, 1935. I have come to the conclusion that Tripura State may accede to the proposed Federation of India subject, however, to the safeguards and limitations indicated in this letter and its annexures.

2. I desire to express my grateful appreciation of the sympathetic assistance and advice which I received from His Excellency the Viceroy's Special Representative in the examination of the problems connected with the question of accession of my State to the Federation. Difficulty was, however, experienced in regard to the interpretation of points upon which admittedly no authoritative views of the Government of India could be given. Moreover, as a matter of normal procedure, no Court of law is likely to admit evidence of any common understanding between a State and the Government of India in regard to any point, though the accession of the State to the Federation may be founded upon such understanding. It is therefore desirable that a serious effort should be made to explore the possibility of adopting some legal expedient for putting on record, and making available for the assistance of the Courts, the intentions of the parties and the agreed understandings between them.

3. It will be observed that the draft standard form of the Instrument of Accession which was forwarded under cover of the letter referred to above, has been modified by me in certain particulars to represent the amended form in which I should prefer to execute the Instrument. Perhaps it is not necessary for me to explain the points of difference between the draft Instrument forwarded by the Political Agent and the amended form in which I am enclosing it herewith, as these points have already formed the subject of discussion between representatives of the Government and those of different Indian States.

4. As regards the Schedules to the Instrument, the most important is the one dealing with the Federal Legislative List. After giving my best consideration to the matter, I have suggested necessary limitations upon the scope of certain items of that list which I am prepared to accept as Federal Legislative subjects. Those items of the Federal Legislative List that do not find mention in the Schedule annexed to the revised draft Instrument, are not acceptable to me, until at least I am convinced of the necessity of accepting them after due consideration of any suggestions that may be forthcoming hereafter in the course of further negotiations in this matter.

5. In this connection, I would particularly refer to item No. 36 of the Federal Legislative List which I am unable to accept. I am advised that acceptance of this item would enable the Federation to regulate and control the whole subject of mining and oilfields in the State. Laws might be passed laying down how mines and oilfields should be exploited and by whom, and such matters as prospecting licenses could also be brought under Federal control. I am, therefore, not prepared to hand over such wide and undefined powers to the Federation. Tripura State has considerable mineral resources not yet developed, and I feel sure you will appreciate my inability to accept this item which may prove a serious handicap in the way of economic exploitation of our mineral resources. I am definitely of opinion that a restrictive policy which may at any time be justified on the conditions prevailing in British India, where mineral development has perhaps reached its maximum capacity in certain respects, may prove altogether unsuitable and harmful to this State. It is true that restrictive legislation under item 36 will be passed only when Federal control is declared by the Legislature to be expedient in the public interest ; but if a line of action is found to be justified in the case of British India, a declaration like this may be made by the Federal Legislature in spite of the opposition of the States' representatives who will, after all, form a minority.

6. Besides indicating my views in connection with the draft Instrument of Accession and the Federal Legislative List in the annexures to this letter, I desire to make a few observations for consideration in connection with the question of accession of my State to the Federation.

7. Having regard to the complicated character of the problems involved in the Federal scheme, it is not possible for any individual Ruler to deal exhaustively with all the points of importance that present themselves. I would, therefore, request that any further amendments of the draft Instrument or limitations in connection with the Federal Legislative List as may be found acceptable to the Government in the case of the Indian States generally, should be made applicable to my State as well. Moreover, should action be taken as a result of representations made by any other State in regard to the general financial aspects of the Federal scheme, the benefit of such action should be extended to my State. I trust that there will be no discrimination against Tripura as regards the general terms on which accession of the States to Federation may be permitted.

8. Opinion is not unanimous as to whether the reference to 'extradition' in item No. 3 of the Federal Legislative List will include extradition between a British Indian unit of the Federation and a Federated State, as also interstatel extradition. It is held by some that inter-unit extradition is included within the scope of item No. 3 of the Concurrent Legislative List, which forms part of the Seventh Schedule to the Government of India Act. If this view prevails with the authorities, I shall have to consider whether or not I shall accept this item of the Concurrent Legislative List as a Federal subject, later on. For the present I accept item 3 of the Federal Legislative List No. 1 without any limitation, on the assumption that it does not include extradition to or from the State from or to other parts of India,

9. The State will not be acceding for income-tax under item 54 of the Federal Legislative List, but will be subject to the power given by Section 138 (3) of the Government of India Act, 1935, to the Federal Government to levy a contribution corresponding to a surcharge, upon the State. Sub-section (3) of Section 138 will, therefore, have to be accepted in the Instrument of Accession, and a provision may be inserted in the First Schedule to the Instrument, somewhat on the following lines :—

"I accept the following matter, namely :—

Provision for the payment by the State of a contribution to the revenues of the Federation in the circumstances and assessed on the basis mentioned in sub-section (3) of Section 138 of the said Act :

subject to the following limitations :

1. The Federal Legislature shall not have power to make laws for the payment by the State of any such contribution unless the rate of the corresponding surcharge for Federal purposes imposed by the Federal Legislature under Section 138 of the Act exceeds.....*annas in the rupee.

2. For the purpose of assessing the contribution of the State the net proceeds which would result from the levying of the said surcharge in the State (to which net proceeds the said contribution is to be equivalent) shall be determined on the footing that—

(a) All income of the Ruler of this State and members of his family and property occupied by them, shall be deemed to be exempt from the said surcharge ;

(b) The rate at which the said surcharge is deemed to be levied in the State shall be less, by.....*annas in the rupee than the rate at which such surcharge is actually levied in British India :

and accordingly the Federal Legislature shall not have power to make laws for the State providing for the payment of a contribution by the State unless such contribution is assessed in the aforesaid manner."

10. Although legislative jurisdiction of the Federation will be operative within my State to the extent that I accept the items in the Federal Legislative List, I am anxious that there should be the least direct interposition of the executive authority of the Federation for the purpose of carrying on, in my territory, the administration of the subjects covered by those items. I need hardly emphasise the importance that I attach to this condition. It is to my mind essential that accession of my State to Federation should not lessen or curtail the authority of the State administration in the eyes of the people, even in respect of the matters which are accepted by me as Federal subjects. There are two alternative methods that have been laid down in the Government of India Act for entrusting the executive administration of Federal Legislative measures to the authorities of a Federated State. The draft standard form of the Instrument of Accession as forwarded by the Political Agent contemplates the insertion of certain additional clauses in suitable cases for the execution of an agreement for the purpose of entrusting administration of the accepted subjects to a State as a condition of its accession to Federation. This procedure is based upon Section 125 of the Government of India Act ; whereas the other alternative provision is contained in Section 124 under which it will be optional for the Federal authorities to entrust the administration of any particular subject to the agency of a State. I have had the advantage of knowing from His Excellency the Viceroy's Representative, the Government point of view in this matter. While fully appreciating the arguments for discrimination as to whether particular subjects should be entrusted to the agency of a State administration under either of these two Sections of the Act, I would strongly urge that if such discrimination is inevitable it should be made only in consideration of the character of the different subjects for administration, and not as a matter of differential treatment of individual States. It is understood that whenever Federal functions may have to be entrusted to a Provincial Government for purposes of administration, action will be taken under Section 124. In so far as functions in respect of any such subject may not be entrusted to Tripura by virtue of an agreement under Section 125, it is essential that this State should be placed precisely in the same position as any Provincial unit for purposes of carrying out agency functions on behalf of the Federal Government. The standard of efficiency which we aim at in the administration of this State will, I venture to think, fully justify the same measures of power and authority being entrusted to us as in the case of any Provincial Government in our neighbourhood, in respect of Federal functions to be delegated under Section 124. I should like to add that I consider it imperative that local administration of the laws of the Federal Legislature under the following items of the Federal Legislative List should be entrusted to my State, namely :—

* NOTE—The rate to be inserted will be the rate of the 1931 surcharges in force at the latest convenient date before Federation commences.

Items 3, 15, 16, 17, 24, 26, 27, 29, 30, 32, 33, 34, 35, 42, 43, 45, 46 and 59.

11. As to recognition by His Majesty of a Court in an Indian State as a High Court under Section 217 of the Government of India Act, I venture to hope that the High Court of this State will receive such recognition for purposes of all the provisions of the Act, in which reference is made to a High Court in a Federated State.

12. As regards the rights and privileges of a State and its Ruler, a difference of opinion exists as to the procedure for safeguarding them. These rights and privileges may be classified under two different heads : (1) rights and privileges relating to the items in the Federal Legislative List which are accepted by the State as Federal subjects ; and (2) rights and privileges relating to matters outside that category. As regards the first class of these rights, it is felt that they should be included in the Instrument of Accession, in such a manner as to bring them within the purview of the jurisdiction of the Federal Court. In this view of the matter, a proposal has been made that this class of rights should be enumerated in a Schedule to the Instrument of Accession itself and referred to in a specific clause of the Instrument. As regards the rights belonging to the second class mentioned above, the protection afforded by Sections 12 (1) (g) and 52 (f) of the Government of India Act may be sufficient, and they may therefore be enumerated in a list which may be referred to by the Governor-General or the Governor of a Province, as the case may be, for the purpose of taking action under those sections. I am enclosing an illustrative list of both these classes of rights leaving it to the authorities to decide how best to safeguard them in the light of representations made by the different States. The lists cannot claim to be exhaustive ; and it is earnestly hoped that a further opportunity will be available for revising and, if necessary, enlarging them.

13. While on this subject, I should like to point out that there are certain rights and privileges which may not have been enjoyed by all the States and Rulers alike, though there does not appear to be any valid justification for any invidious distinction being made between State and State in those matters. It may be that in certain instances a State has not sufficiently pressed its claims but the door is not definitely closed against a reconsideration of such matters under present circumstances. It is to be hoped that Federation will not stereotype inequalities of this kind, but that before accession of the States takes place, the Government will review the whole situation in the light of present day circumstances and the implications of future constitutional changes. Should such a course be followed by the authorities some of the discriminatory privileges may possibly be extended to a State like Tripura. Apart from cases of deliberate differentiation, there may be instances in which certain rights were not extended to this State merely as a result of oversight on the part of the authorities, or omission on the part of the State itself to bring to the notice of the authorities the necessity of the extension of the privileges conceded to others. I desire to add that I may have occasion to make a further representation on this point.

YOUR SINCERE FRIEND,

(Sd.) B. B. K. Manikya,

MAHARAJA OF TRIPURA.

(Vide the Indian States Protection against Disaffection Act, 1922 ; the Indian States Protection Act, 1934 ; and the Foreign Relations Act, 1932).
